

The Cooks Temptation:A Novel

Joyce Wayne brings to life the complexities of Victorian life, first in County Devon, and then in London's East End. The big picture is about one woman's life, class conflict, religious intolerance, suspicion, and betrayal. The central figure is Cordelia, a strong-minded Jewish woman who is caught between her desire to be true to herself and her need to be accepted by English society. The Cooks Temptation is about a woman who is unpredictable, both strong and weak-willed, both kind and heinous, victim and criminal. It is a genuine Victorian saga, full of detail, twists and turns, memorable scenes, and full of drama and pathos.
