

It Came From Below

There is something growing in James Ervins basement. Closeted jock James Ervin had managed to avoid the mens shower room at the local university since his enrollment in September for the embarrassment of growing an erection in front of the other guys. Especially his straight best friend and secret crush, Cortland Merrit. Each day after class James cannot wait to rush home and fantasize about Cortland. Once discovering the tentacled thing growing after consuming a used tissue disregarded from a particularly arousing session, James learns it needs semen to survive. And James is more than happy to provide. As it continues to grow it releases a powerful pheromone and now all James can think of is sex, sex, sex. Especially with Cortland who happens to be going through a rough patch with his girlfriend. Suddenly James is more bold, confident, and a sex driven maniac, but will he choose to be a good friend to Cortland by helping him get back together with his girlfriend? Or will he take him to the thing in the basement and turn him into a nympho like himself?
